A certain Wolf could not get enough to eat. This was because of the Shepherds were always watching. One night he found a sheep skin. It had been cast aside and forgotten. The next day, the wolf dressed in the skin. He strolled into the pasture with the Sheep. Soon a little Lamb was following him. The wolf knew that he could trick the Lamb easily.

That evening the Wolf entered the pen with the rest of the flock. But that night, the Shepherd wanted mutton for dinner. He went to the pen to find a sheep for his meal. There the first he laid hands on and killed was the Wolf.

The trickster will often be harmed by their own trick
